STOP THE SMOKERS.

The passage of a resolution by the council to compel the enforcement of the anti-smoke ordinance is like looking the door after the theft of the horse, as far as the winter that is just over is concerned. However, there are chimneys that belch forth clouds of black smoke in summer as well as in winter, and to these the attention of the officers of the law is respectfully directed. There has never been a serious attempt to abate the smoke nuisance in this city.

From time to time, offenders have been notified that they must, within a prescribed period of time, install smoke preventers. At the end of the time allowed they have been informed that if they did not do something before another period elapsed they would be hauled into court and punished. Nobody was punished. We find it hard to believe now, in view of past performances, that anybody will be punished.

The smoke makers have heard the complaints of the police and the public without heeding them for so long that it is not at all likely that they will heed them now. They may be depended upon to delay the installation of smoke preventers on consumers until they are convinced that the council and the police are in earnest this time. Are they in earnest? Future developments alone will give us light on that point.

The failure to prosecute in the past has been ascribed to the fact that the city itself makes a good deal of smoke in the jail and the city and county building. The city, it was argued, could not prosecute others for an offense of which it was guilty itself. Well, the president directed the enforcement of the anti-smoke ordinance in Washington and it was found that great volumes of smoke proceeded from a government building stack. That did not prevent the enforcement of the law.

The government official responsible for the violation was fined $25. It might seem unfair to fine a city official for making smoke when the city affords him no means of preventing it, but that is not a sufficient reason for exempting all the offenders. We hope the council and the police will make it so warm for the violators of the anti-smoke ordinance that the nuisance will be abated.

BRAVE JOHN BARRETT.

Minister John Barrett, according to a dispatch from Washington published yesterday morning, "saw his duty and done it" in Panama. We have Mr. Barrett's own word for it that, single handed and alone, he crushed out a rebellion in Panama, stamped upon it with his iron heel and everlastingly squashed it into the earth. When the valiant John finished with that rebellion there wasn't enough of it left to fill a sardine can.

It appears that fifty soldiers who had served under the rebel general, Huertas, marched with rebel firearms to the government house and sent word that they wanted their money in one payment instead of in two, as had been arranged. Fortunately, most fortunately, even providentially for the republic of Panama, Minister Barrett was conferring with the president when the message from the soldiers came.

Naturally the president turned to our great American for advice. Did John hesitate? Did he falter? Did he fail in the crisis so suddenly thrust upon him? No, indeed. John Barrett never failed to give advice when it was asked. He has even been known to give it without being asked. He told the president to be absolutely firm. The soldiers persisted. They muttered "Carabana," "Tortilla," "Hacienda," and other blood-curdling threats.

Then arose the mighty Barrett, straight into the midst of those fifty bloodthirsty, starving, ragged, unarmed men he walked, and this is part of what he said, or rather of what he said "he said":

"In brief words, I told General Guardia to say to them that the United States has its forces back of the government in this crisis, and that they must accept the terms of the government or accept the consequences. They were warned that if they did not accept these terms and proceed in their course of rebellion, riot or mutiny they would be dealt with in a most summary way, and that if necessary the naval forces in the bay and the marines at Alcon and Emplap would be used to maintain order, with the severest punishment for those who were responsible for disorder. This warning had the desired effect and the soldiers immediately declared that they would accept the terms of the government."

Hooray for Barrett. Hip, hip—but phew, a hero such as he cares not for the plaudits of the rabble. He knows he stopped the revolution, single handed and alone, and that is glory enough for him. The ragged rebels may never have heard of the United States government, but the appearance of Barrett averted them into submission. We now move that, as a slight token of the nation's appreciation of this great man, one school child out of every half-million in the land be requested to donate a penny toward the purchase of a handsome leather medal for Minister Barrett, Minister John Barrett, representative of the United States in the republic of Panama.

THE INSURANCE ROW.

We are inclined to agree with young Mr. Hyde of the Equitable Life Assurance society that the action of the general agents in demanding that he resign from the vice presidency is "impertinent, extraordinary, insulting and most preposterous." Mr. Hyde added that he had no intention of resigning. Under similar circumstances most men would feel as Mr. Hyde feels. He occupies a higher position than any general agent, higher than all of them combined. In addition we must not overlook the detail that he owns 51 per cent of the company's stock.

The general agents are men who work for the company. Their business is to solicit life insurance and to see that such agents as they may have under their wing attend faithfully to their work. It is quite probable that if Mr. Hyde desired to do so he could bring about the discharge of every one of them. Nor is there any getting away from the fact that if they are not satisfied with the conduct of their superior officer, and incidentally the owner of a majority of the stock of the corporation, they are at perfect liberty to seek more congenial surroundings.

Vice President Hyde, if half the reports are true, is not the sort of man many of us would be willing to trust with large property interests. He seems to have control of the funds of the Equitable company as if they were his own. He has loaned them to his friends, he has apparently used them to aid in bolstering up stock and bond markets, he has followed the dictates of his own desires in everything pertaining to the business of the company. We don't care very much for young Mr. Hyde, but we submit that the way to get him out of the vice presidency, and about the only reasonable way, is to buy him out.

If he refuses to sell then the other stockholders might practically compel him to buy their holdings. The trouble about the whole matter is that funds which should be held in sacred trust for men and the families of men who are putting the savings of their lives into them, have not been as carefully guarded as they should have been. The financial standing of the Equitable has not been impaired. It is able to pay in full every claim against it and still have plenty of money left over. But the public does not like to see such troubles as the society is now undergoing, for the public has too much at stake.

HARD TO BELIEVE.

We find it hard to believe a story published in the Chicago Record-Herald regarding the employment by union labor men of a gang of roughs whose business it is to assault non-union teamsters in the strike now in progress there. The Record-Herald says that these men are paid a regular scale of wages for assaults of varying degrees and that the money is being handed over at the headquarters of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

It is said that $2 is the pay for breaking a white strike breaker's nose or ribs, and $5 for similar punishment administered to a negro; $2 if the white victim is left unconscious and $5 for the negro victim; $5 for a broken leg or arm in a white man and $10 in a negro; $5 for a white man sent to a hospital and $10 for a negro. A higher scale is paid, it is claimed, for negroes because the union men want to discourage the blacks who desire to become teamsters.

This is a decidedly grave charge to make against any union organization. All the details, however, are published by the Record-Herald, which ranks as a reputable newspaper. We are quite sure the Record-Herald had faith in the authenticity of the report or it would not have admitted it to its columns. Nevertheless, as we said at the outset, we find it hard to believe the story.

Union men have not always acted the part of good citizens during strike excitements, but their lawlessness has been as individuals. And a great many disturbances of the peace that have been charged to unions were caused by people who had no connection whatever with the unions. On no occasion has a union, or a union, stood behind lawlessness or endorsed it. If the Chicago story is true it will be the first instance of the kind, so far as we know, on record.

The Chicago Federation of Labor owes it to itself and to the cause of union labor generally, to enter a prompt denial of the report, if it is untrue, and to present evidence showing its falsity. If it is allowed to pass unchallenged the public will be pardoned for believing it.

The question that is worrying Chicago just now is as to whether Chicago will be called the Glasgow of America or Glasgow the Chicago of Scotland. You can take your choice—if you don't happen to come from either Chicago or Glasgow.

Boston is wildly excited over a report that dealers there have been selling adulterated beans. Browning will now occupy a back seat until this really important question has been settled. The czar has decided that Stoesel must stay in Russia, that he can't go back and fight the Japs. This is equivalent to commuting a death sentence to life imprisonment.

We are authorized to deny the report that plans are under way to play the opening baseball game in Salt Lake with the aid of life preservers.

With cherries selling in Philadelphia at only $10 a pound we don't see why the people there should complain about increases in the price of beef.

Live Wires.

It is, of course, taken for granted that Mr. Gibbs has picked out a soft place to light.

If one of those Colorado bears should take a notion to follow the president into the White House, Mr. Gibbs, in selecting leather breeches as part of his costume would receive a glorious vindication.

The French government makes it very clear that it is maintaining the strict neutrality so far as Japanese ships are concerned.

Salt Lake may have failed to secure the headquarters of the Woodmen, but as yet there is nothing to indicate that the Utah delegation will return with high temperature in the region of the collar.

Realizing the magnitude of the task of telling each independent oil producer what he thinks of him, Mr. Rockefeller evidently has decided to lump the job by giving the price of crude oil another cut.

If a long cruise affects Rojevstevsky's vessels as it did our own little old Oregon in 1898, the Russian admiral has a great cluster of fighting machines at his disposal.

The Northern Securities company is reducing its stock 99 per cent. This should leave it fairly dry.

As a slight token of appreciation of all we have done for them the grateful natives of Porto Rico have trampled upon the American flag. Next to Santo Domingo, the big bad citizens of these people of Porto Rico are the finest we know of anywhere.

It begins to look now as if "generations yet unborn" would have this franchise business to wrestle with after all.

More Returns In.
Wooscarum, April-Editor "News": Me and three of my brothers have been the "Semi-Weekly News" for the past thirty years. Two copies a week for fifty-two weeks makes 104 copies per year, so that circulation figures on the Salt Lake dailies here are as follows:

"News," 12,480; Herald, 9; Tribune, 6. Crops are looking good, especially cereals and apples. Please send me an almanac. We have a dispute as to what month this is. Your brother,
JOHN WATFUR,
Bishop and Correspondent of "News."

Pancake, Garfield County-Editor "News": The herol stand of the Deseret News on the Boer war and the titling question has made many friends for the "News" here. In fact, one might say there is nothing to it but the "News" in Pancake settlement. Sometimes we don't get our mail for months. It is never more than a day or two in our judgment of the "News." The old copies are just as good as the new ones. Everybody here takes the "News." The circulation figures are as follows:

"News," 75; Herald, 6; Tribune, 6. There was a package marked "Telegram" and "Correspondent of News." Nobody knows what it means, and we are all afraid to open it on account of so many infernal machines in the country now. Can you let us know what it is? Your brother,
OSCAR SOCKLUND,
Bishop and Correspondent of "News."

P. S.—Is Mr. Rusevelt running again this year? John Henry ain't been here. O. S.

Highgun, April 26—The venomous attacks of the defamers of Utah have led to the herol stand of the Deseret News before to continue to take the "News" paper. Most of them have not found out what the other papers say, and I always make it my duty to see that nobody in the ward reads anything but the "News." We all think your editorial are fine, because they are true and take all sides of every question. Keep up the good work. Circulation figures, conservatively estimated, are as follows: "News," 7,500; Herald, 3; Tribune, 1. Your brother,
ARTHUR HUFFIE,
Bishop and Correspondent of "News."

Summit County, der 9 April-Editor "News": Anzelger, Hoch Wolkoboren—Had we here view of a few days ago, I would have said, "Wished it id that the high mountain peaks of the Neuen Neuen" already to take must, or yet himself der vard oudste vill find. Alretty had we here "News," 235; Herald, 2; Tribune, 1.

MUGST SCHMOOTLERHEISS,
Bishop and Correspondent "News."

(These letters from 150 of the leading cities of the state are published merely to show that the figures given heretofore in relation to circulation of the "News" were not as strong as they might have been. It will be noticed that the truth of these letters is the truth of these letters. "Hear" will receive no attention from the "News." Neither will we permit ourselves to be led into any "trap." Let those who may doubt these figures endeavor to get details from the "News" and rub them. That is the only fair test. Meanwhile, the "News" will continue its gallant fight for corporate rights and more coin.)

A REPLY TO MR. GIBBS.
The Herald has received a communication replying to and criticizing Mr. J. P. Barrett. If the author will come to the Herald office and affix his real name to the article it will be published.
